

Unearthing the Environmental Impact of Human Activity:

A Global Co2 Emission Analysis

1. Introduction

A Global warming is one of the biggest challenges currently being faced by the human race, although correlation is not causation, a likely cause of global warming is due to increased atmospheric carbon dioxide from human activities. Co2 Emission refers to the Carbon Dioxide emitted throughout the world. For this analysis we will be focusing on Co2 Emissions and its effect on the world we live in as well as some key factors and stars that may play a role in the emission of Co2 globally. Fossil fuel use is the primary source of Co2.

1.1 Overview

By understanding the project's goals and objectives global Co2 Emission across countries from 1975 to 2020. This dataset contains a record of Co2 Emission by each Country and Region of Earth, here we are going to analysis and visualize Country wise, Region wise and Overall Co2 Emission on Earth.

1.2 Purpose

It involves

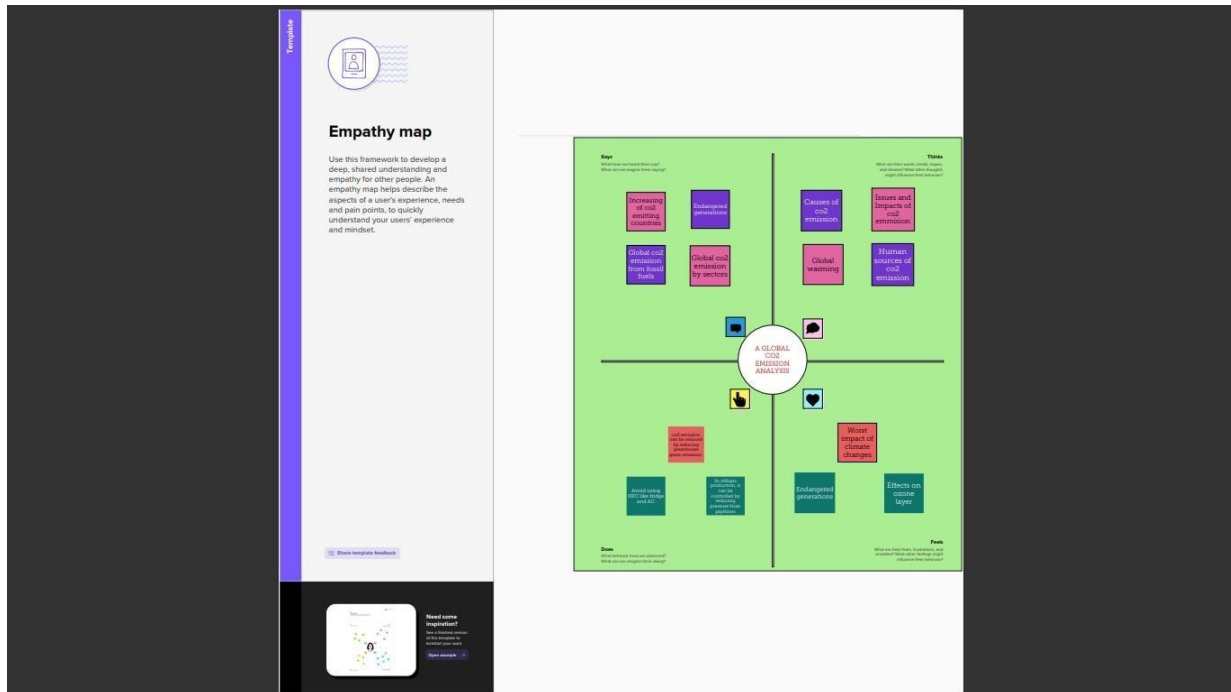

- Gathering and reviewing project requirements

- Conducting Emission research to understand top emitting countries

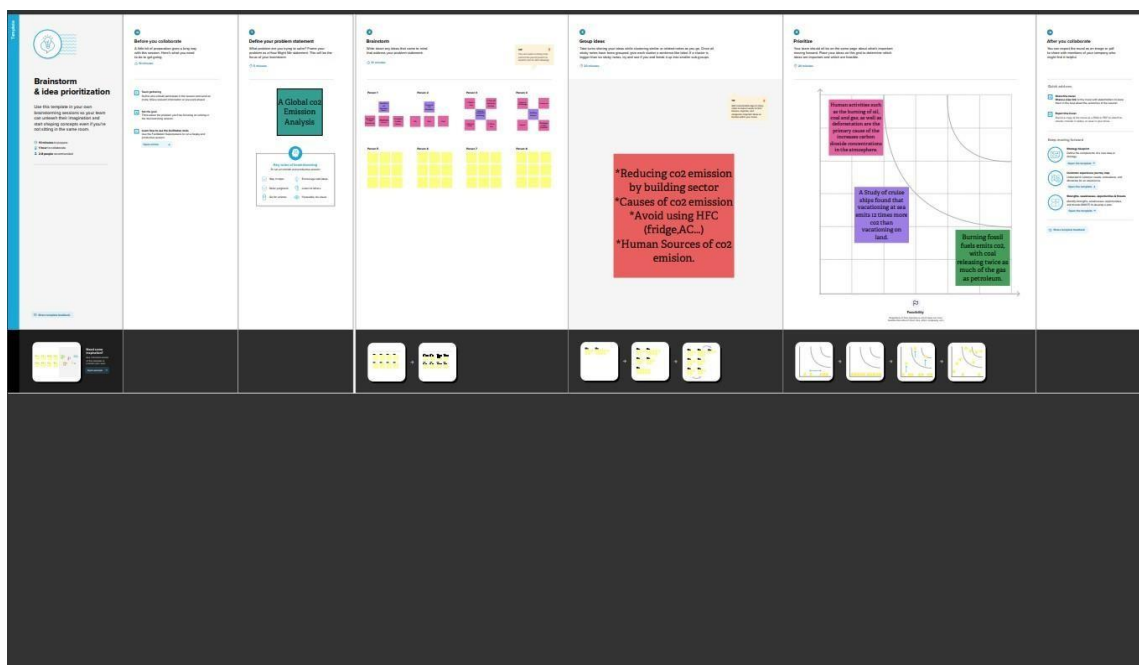

Analyzing the total world emission, co2 emission over time and total emission by continents.

2. Problem Definition & Design Thinking

Application:

The future market for CO₂-derived products and services is very difficult to assess, reflecting the early stage of technology development for many applications and the reliance on supporting policy frameworks. Global estimates range from less than 1 GtCO₂ per year to 7 GtCO₂ per year by 2030, depending on the assumptions applied. These higher estimates are considered extremely optimistic.

A high-level screening of the theoretical potential for CO₂ use and the likely climate benefits (Figure 4) shows that fuels have the largest potential due to their vast market size, while building materials show the greatest climate change mitigation potential mainly because of the low energy requirements and the permanent retention of carbon in the product.

The market for CO₂-derived products and services is expected to remain small in the short term. Individual markets are either small in nature (polymers, greenhouses), limited to locations with favourable conditions (methane, methanol) or face other barriers for fast deployment, such as building standards and codes (building materials).

The Advantages & Disadvantages of Carbon Dioxide Emission:

Carbon dioxide (CO₂) comprises two oxygen atoms and one carbon atom, which occurs naturally through the carbon cycle and burning fossil fuels. The carbon cycle refers to the tons of CO₂ that oceans and plants remove from the atmosphere. Natural sources release CO₂ back into the environment. According to the Environmental Protection Agency, natural sources of CO₂ include plants and animal respiration, volcanic eruptions and ocean releases

Food Processing

The global food industry depends on CO₂ for short-term and long-term refrigeration of food products. Co₂

Plant Growth:

During the summer, opening the ventilation system allows fresh air into the greenhouse, which increases the CO₂ level.

Future Scope :

The household sector, which plays a critical role in emission reduction is a source of emissions. We find that this scale of the bibliometric analysis shows that research on HCEs is interdisciplinary and must consider overall cognition of the environment, the economy , society and technology.

As a significant emitter of co₂ gas but also as a developing country starting from a low emission base, India is an important actor in global climate change mitigation.

However, perceptions of India vary widely, from an energy hungry climate deal breaker to a forerunner of a low carbon future.

Conclusion:

In our project we see that a global Co2 emission analysis . We see that the global co2 emission across countries from 1975 to 2020.

There are around 10,000 data are collected.

The number of unique visualizations that can be created with a given dataset. Some common types of visualizations that can be used to analyze the co2 Emissions include bar charts, line charts, Tree maps, Scatter plots, pie charts, Maps etc.
